Marport Appoints New Distributor in the United Kingdom

Furuno UK to Expand Product Line by Offering Marport Products to Commercial Fisheries

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Reykjavik, Iceland Wednesday, 08 April 2015

Effective immediately, Marport has appointed Furuno UK its exclusive distributor for the UK. A long term agreement between Marport and Furuno UK was signed.

Marport's product portfolio compliments and completes the already extensive product line Furuno offers for both both demersal and pelagic trawlers. Consequently, Furuno UK will now be able to offer a more complete package to their professional customers in the commercial fishing industry. Most importantly, Furuno UK will provide service and support for Marport products.

"Furuno UK is a strong partner with an experienced sales and service staff. With Furuno's commitment to Marport's products, it will enable us to increase our market share in UK to the level we have in other parts of the world" said Óskar Axelsson, Executive Vice President of Marport.

Furuno UK will cooperate closely with Marport Iceland during the transition phase. All existing service and support cases will receive direct attention from the experienced Marport technical team in Iceland. Current Marport customers can direct their enquiries directly to Marport Iceland for their immediate attention.
